BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1953

Bridge Worker Drowns

Observations.

By UDELL

The officials of the City of Bay St. Louis have asked that residents conserve water during these summer months. They are asked to refrain from sprinkling flowers during the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. Some of the coast cities are having water shortage and the City does not want to deplete the water supply. We do not know just how long the drought will last. So, please let's all comply with this request, it will prevent any serious shortage.

John A. Scaife, Sylvan J. Ladner and Cyril Clover were without opposition in the general election Tuesday, June 2.

Maurice J. Artigues, George Stevenson and Ben Hill were elected to serve on the Democratic Executive Committee. The officials will serve four years from July 6, 1953. Congratulations.

The rabies control officer will be in Bay St. Louis Friday, June 19, from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. at the Health Department office, City Hall. All dogs who have not been vaccinated will have this last chance. After this date, the Patrol Officer will begin to pick up dogs that have not been protected against hydrophobia.

How long can a person stay in Bay St. Louis? For Memorial Day last Saturday, according to custom, the American Legion decorated the graves of former servicemen with flags. Some vandals took it upon himself (or for all we know it may have been a group) to remove these flags. Sometimes we can forgive destruction of something belonging to the living, but when it comes to the dead, it is unforgivable. The guilty party certainly must be proud of himself. To think that he went into the graveyard and stole the flags of the graves of people who cannot defend themselves. It was a mighty brave thing indeed to rob the dead.

Hang your head in shame. If you had so much courage in taking the flags, you certainly should have enough courage to go to Commander Lucien Kidd and tell him what you did with these little marks of honor for those who have served their country during their life time.

The Laymen's Club of Christ Episcopal Church at a recent meeting, made plans to hold a minstrel, under the direction of Mrs. Frank Kiefer, July 10 and 11. Don McCulloch was selected as interlocutor.

Dawson Jennings, who is connected with Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, will be in Bay St. Louis today with a scale model of trees, etc., from 9:00 a. m. on. He will be in front of the Hancock Bank. This exhibit is really worth seeing. It has been made by a curator of a museum.

Library Donation Can Be Monthly

LIBRARY FUND SOARS
With the gift of $1000.00 from Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Brignac the Library Fund has this week added $1289.00 to its total.

Thanks are extended to all good citizens who have helped in this progressive undertaking.

So far all contributions have been received from a total of 48 sources. Won't you add to this number and thus have a part in bringing a public library to the community?

If you have not already given your contribution to the Memorial Library Building Fund, will you do so today? You do not need to send any money or check, just a pledge to contribute so much a month for as many months as desired. Thus, if you would like to give $1000.00 but cannot spare that amount just now, you can pledge $10.00 a month for 10 months, or $5.00 a month for 20 months; if you want to pledge $10.00 or $5.00 or $1.00, you can do it in the same way.

Nowhere will you find more satisfaction in giving than to a library which provides enlightenment, entertainment and amusement for everybody, man, woman, and child.

The library provides a haven and a solace for everybody. Give generously to the library which gives so generously to you. Clip this and send it to Miss Louise Crawford, Bay St. Louis.

Clifford H. Sims, 48-year-old resident of Pass Christian and native of Jones County, died Friday afternoon through "accidental drowning" after he apparently fell while at work on the new Bay St. Louis bridge.

A coroner's jury, empaneled by Harrison County Coroner Frank Hightower, returned the verdict of "accidental drowning" at an inquest held Friday night at Riemann's Funeral Home in Gulfport.

Sims, who was born July 13, 1904, was in his second day of work on the bridge, which is being constructed by Merritt, Scott and Chapman Construction Company.

FELL INTO WATER
According to testimony at the inquest, Sims was using a screw jack and two fellow workers went to get some additional blocks for the jack. Upon their return, testimony adds, they said Sims was missing. They told the coroner's jury that they saw Sims go under the water.

The body was recovered about 30 minutes later in 10 to 12 feet of water and artificial respiration was administered by Lester Garriga, Pass Christian police officer, but to no avail. He was pronounced dead by Dr. George W. Byrne.

Members of the jury were: A. M. Koennen, Eldon S. Moran, Melvin Garriga, Alton A. Ladner, Hampton McArthur and Everett Depew. Beat Three Constable Eaton Garriga acted as bailiff.

SURVIVORS
Sims is survived by the following children, Neoma Sims, Pass Christian; Milton Sims, in service in North Carolina; Johnny Sims, Pass Christian; Roy Sims, in service in Rhode Island; Irma Sims, Margaret Sims and Hazel Sims, all of Pass Christian; three sisters, Mrs. Marie Woodcock, Mrs. Fred Steube and Mrs. Pearl Brownlee, all of Pass Christian; two brothers, Levon Sims, Bremerton, Wash.; Winstead Sims, Pass Christian; and his father, John J. Sims, Pass Christian.

The body was taken from Riemann's Funeral Home to the Fred Steube home on Menge avenue, Pass Christian.

Oblate Fathers Purchase Pine Hills Hotel

The Oblate Fathers have purchased the Pine Hills hotel on the Bay of St. Louis and will begin work immediately to convert it into a major seminary for the Catholic priesthood, Louis A. DiRosa, New Orleans attorney, said Tuesday.

The 180-room hotel, built in 1926 for over one million dollars as a plush resort hotel, was closed in 1928 and not reopened, said DiRosa, who added:

"The building was very well constructed and is in excellent state of preservation. The new owners will start work on it right away and hope to have it ready for occupancy by next fall."

DiRosa made the announcement as attorney in New Orleans for the Rev. Alphonsus Simon, of the Oblate Fathers of Belleville, Ill., Midwest Province, O. M. I., who came to New Orleans in connection with the transaction.

The price was not disclosed. The sale was made by E. A. Lang, Pass Christian realtor. The sellers were Robert L. Smart and Chester F. Owens, New Orleans businessmen who bought the property in 1946.

DiRosa said the huge hotel, located on the north shore of the bay near Pass Christian, contains 180 rooms and 130 baths and will house approximately 100 students at the start and eventually as many as 250 students and "should in time be the largest and best-equipped seminary of the Oblates in this country."

The Oblates of Mary Immaculate, founded near Marseilles, France, in 1816, are the fifth largest missionary order in the world. Oblate Fathers comprise the staff of St. Louis Cathedral and are also the spiritual directors of St. Mary's Italian church and Our Lady of Guadalupe church in New Orleans. They number about 6,500 men throughout the world whose work includes teaching, preaching and closed retreats.

Morreale Honored

Hammond, La., (Special), May 3.—One of the main reasons Southeastern Louisiana College baseballers finished the 1953 season in a first place tie for the Gulf States Conference title was the playing of Senior second-baseman, Jake Morreale.

Besides being an adept base runner and smooth fielder, the Bay St. Louis native literally tore up GSC pitching as he topped the Lions in conference batting with a .423 mark.

Morreale, a hustling four-year letterman, and Big Walt Andrew, Mayport, Fla., first sacker, captured the 1953 SLC nine that won 5 and lost 1 to gain the tie for the conference championship.

Of course the Lions received top notch pitching from Gary Whitfield and Louis Cook and consistent hitting from shortstopper Jerry Solomone, but Morreale and the long-ball hitting Andrew led the Lions at the plate in their climb to the top of the GSC.

While he wasn't coveting around second base for Coach Pat Kenelly, Morreale was active in intramural football, boxing and was coach of an intramural basketball team.

A Physical Education Major, Morreale graduated from Southeastern May 26.

Annapolis, Md., June 5 (FHTNC)—The U. S. Naval Academy here graduates the second largest class today since its founding 108 years ago. The largest class was in 1946 with 1,046 members.

The play, under the direction of Marie Louise Blair, is based on a fantasy of how Death chased up an apple tree. Death is chased up the tree by Gramps who holds him captive there in order to prolong his time on earth.

Pud, Gramps' pride and joy, is played by Jimmie Larroux. The role of Pud is a large one and is equally handled by our youngest star, Gramps is portrayed by Philip Allison, a veteran of many plays and many seasons. As Gramps, he is a lovable character. Having a love for children and a deep understanding for their ways, made Phil a natural for this part.

Pud and Gramps, their trials and their tribulations, will delight any audience, from eight to eighty. Pud's Granny is played by his own grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Backman. A favorite of long standing, a tireless worker, Mrs. Backman gives a delightful and endearing performance as Granny.

Mr. Brink, as Death is called, is played by Dr. John Husband. His first major part in the theatre, he has been an active member for years. Ethel Ann Raymond is Marcia, Ezelda Ling, a veteran of many seasons gives much of her training to the characterization of Demetria Riffle, the troublemaking Aunt. A last minute change brought about by the business trip of one of the players, brings Dr. Harold Keefe back in harness as Dr. Evans and Drury Blair as Mr. Filbeam. Mr. Grimes is played by Lucien Raymond. Lucien has played many character parts in the Little Theatre and continues his good work in this role. The Sheriff, is none other than the Little Theatre President, Eric Kirkpatrick.

Lars Phillips, a juvenile, accepts his first role in the theatre as a Boy and Mr. James Fillingame is seen as a workman.

Membership is $5.00 for the year. There will be four plays, plus two or more special entertainments for the membership only.

After the meeting, the Reverend and Mrs. Charles R. Johnson were hosts at a luncheon. Those present included Mrs. J. W. Duquaker, Mrs. Harold Keefe, Mrs. J. K. Larsen, Mrs. Thomas de Rocha and Mrs. George Mayer.

School Staff Meets

The regular meeting of the officers and staff of Christ Church Sunday School was held at the Rectory, 912 South Beach Boulevard, last week.

Plans were completed for the summer program at the school. During his first class year at the Naval Academy he attained the rank of Midshipman Ensign, serving as a Platoon Sub-Commander during the winter term.

Additional visitors expecting to attend this open meeting are asked to call the hotel and reserve the extra luncheon. The meeting will open promptly at noon and will close at 1:00 p. m.

Confessions will be heard at 4:30 p. m.

Poplarville, Miss., June 5.—After deliberating for 34 minutes the jury filed in Tuesday morning to render the verdict in favor of Boyce Holleman against the 12-man jury selected by Judge Seba Dale that it found "the election held on March 31, 1953, at Biloxi precinct No. 4 and the White Plains precinct in Harrison County was null and void and that Boyce Holleman received the greatest number of legal votes."

In the March 31 special election, the official count gave the district attorney post to Arnold Lopez, 43-year-old Biloxi attorney by 143 votes.

The official count in the election over the district gave Lopez 541 votes, Holleman 548, and Tom Wallace, a third contender, 166.

Holleman winner. At the highly controversial Biloxi No. 4 precinct, Lopez received 511 votes, Holleman 14 and Wallace 24. At White Plains Lopez received 510 votes, Holleman 5 and Wallace none.

Disqualification of the two boxes Tuesday by the jury threw out the March 31 results and makes the new official count for the district as follows: Holleman 548, Lopez 5240 and Wallace 1642. This will give Holleman the district attorney post of the second judicial district by 200 votes.

Immediately after the announcement of the jury's verdict, Weaver Gore, chief counsel for Lopez stated that they will appeal the case to the state supreme court.

Boyce Holleman, winner of the jury verdict, stated, "I can only say God bless all the wonderful people who have worked so hard these many weeks. The truthfulness and honesty of those citizens of Biloxi whom we had to call upon in this trial will be long remembered by all Mississippians. Out of this trial will come a new respect for the laws that protect the sacredness of free and untrammelled ballots."

Fraud Charged
Holleman filed the suit in Pearl River County under an old statute, charging in his petition that he had lost the election through fraud and irregularities in Harrison and Hancock county boxes.

After more than a week of hearing Holleman forces suddenly Monday rested in the case without placing witnesses from all 11 boxes on the stand, stating that "We have presented enough evidence to prove fraud without consuming the time of the court any longer."

Lopez was the only witness placed on the stand in his defense, stating that he did not know anything of a fraud.

Holleman forces had summoned 140 witnesses, but only called 62 to the stand before resting the case.

Argues Case
Weaver Gore, a veteran of 44 years in the courtrooms of the state, argued the case before the jury for Lopez, claiming that the jury should consider only the actual votes which Holleman proved were illegal and that the remainder would still give Lopez the election. He contended that the jury should not throw out the two boxes and thus deprive other voters at the precinct of the voting franchise.

Joel Blass, a young GI from Wiggins, was the chief counsel for Holleman and argued his case before the jury. Blass contended that you cannot pass off action at the two boxes as a joke, that the defense had not denied fraud having existed. He stated that "Our freedom is at stake and this trial is more important than if it were a murder trial. It is an assault on organized society. When we have lost the right to name our own officials, we have lost the right to govern ourselves."

Kidd Re-Elected Legion Leader

Lucien Kidd was re-elected commander of the American Legion, Clement R. Bontemps Post 139, at the annual election Tuesday, June 2.

Also elected were Tom Bressler, first vice-commander; Leroy Lee, second vice-commander; Andy Becker, finance officer; Ed Bates, adjutant; E. K. Peyton, chaplain; Joseph H. Benveniste, judge advocate; Laurence Dickson, service officer; Arthur Looker, historian; Gerald Price Sr., agent at arms; Joe Compette, color guard.

Officers elected pledged service to the Legion and will represent the community and country in the service in the past, according to the Commander, is expected to increase to the fullest extent possible.

Additional visitors expecting to attend this open meeting are asked to call the hotel and reserve the extra luncheon. The meeting will open promptly at noon and will close at 1:00 p. m.

5000 More Rural Telephones for Mississippi!

Telephone people—linemen, installers and many others—are hard at work on a program to extend telephone service to another 5000 Mississippi rural families in 1953. They expect to complete over 100 new rural telephone projects in 50 counties at a cost of about 2½ million dollars.

This year's rural telephone expansion is a continuation of a long range program which has quadrupled Mississippi's rural telephones in 7 years at a cost of more than 12½ million dollars.

Sixteen dial switching equipment units for interconnecting lines have enabled us to extend telephone service to wider rural areas in Mississippi. And more are coming.

Easy Come Easy Go

The threat of inflation has been uppermost in many people's minds in the last thirteen years as they saw their saved dollars, and the value of their life insurance policies shrink.

The dollar saved in 1939 lost about half its purchasing power as prices doubled. Money got cheap as prices increased and government encouraged inflation.

Apparently, the policy of government is now one of mild deflation, a more stabilized economy. The big boom, for the time being is spent. The day of easy money, "easy come and easy go," is at an end. Dollars may be harder to make but will command more respect in the purchase of goods. The buyer again comes into his own. Men begin selling, cultivating customers and building good will in the spirit that made this the most dynamic country of traders on earth.

The American free enterprise system is built upon a stabilized currency produced by hard work and personal and public economy. The "easy come-easy go" policy, did not build the financial sinews of this dynamic republic.

In the more normal times that are to come, money will talk—the dollars one saves should be better dollars. So there is more incentive just now to save than during the hectic days of an inflated currency.

The time will come when a man with money will cash in on his opportunities. It always does to the plodding, frugal, patient.

We all know we could not go on indefinitely blowing up the financial balloon without a final bust. Apparently the new administration is letting out a little of the wind to keep our economy from blowing up.

This nation can endure only if it remains solvent, and it will remain solvent only as long as its people save money. The individual succeeds only as he puts something by for the future. We cannot waste our substance and prosper.
